Dear Hiring Manager,

I am interested in IT service-delivery and operations roles centered on customer service, technical support, service desk, SLA/KPI governance, incident/problem management and continuous improvement. I currently lead a 54-person technology organization with seven direct reports and oversee a ~20-person support/customer-service operation supporting national-scale digital services.

My scope includes support across applications, systems and infrastructure; service-desk/help-desk development and CRM-platform integration; SLA/KPI monitoring; incident escalation; problem/RCA practices; service transition; onboarding, training and knowledge transfer; vendor coordination and continuous improvement. My engineering background helps me connect service issues to root technical causes and sustainable platform improvement.

I would bring a structured, outcome-focused approach: clear ownership, strong stakeholder alignment, disciplined governance, practical technical judgment and attention to successful implementation and sustainable operation.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how this experience could support your organization's priorities and the outcomes expected from the role.

Sincerely,
Mahmoud Salama
